Early Phase 2 analysis focused on storage

- ◆ The 'less costly' summer water was dedicated in Phase 1
- Without storage of winter flows there was no opportunity to expand the program

- ♦ A foundation study was needed to determine whether to proceed with Phase 2
- ♦ Storage investigation & outcome provided enough information to address the question: Can we store enough recycled water to justify proceeding with Phase 2 Scoping Studies?

Storage study focus & outcomes

- Provided review of similar projects by other agencies
- Identified potential sites for existing NBWRA members
- Identified potential operational configurations (combined or segregated ponds)
- Provided design criteria and site constraints to use in screening projects

Identified technical reservoir siting criteria

- Design Criteria
 - Conceptual pond layout
 - Combined use ponds
 - 。 Segregated use ponds
- Operational Issues
 - Storage volumes
 - Operational volume changes
 - Water resource management issues
- Design Issues
 - 。 Environmental design issues
 - Engineering design elements

- Site Constraint Issues
 - 。 100-year floodplain
 - o Climate change adaptation
 - Impacts
 - Buffers
 - Public access
 - 。 Depth to groundwater
- Water Quality
- Wetlands Delineations

Napa County Subarea Needs

- Covered storage of tertiary water to allow direct use without retreatment
- Conceptual options to be considered
 - Raise existing ponds levees
 - Additional finished water pond
 - Additional oxidation pond (two possible locations)
 - Aquifer Storage & Recovery near Chardonnay Golf Club
- Additional agricultural users would provide use of existing or new on-site irrigation ponds to take winter effluent flows

Sonoma County Subarea Needs: SCWA & SVCSD

- Winter effluent delivery to the salt ponds limits the need for seasonal storage of recycled water
- Additional agricultural users would provide use of existing or new on-site irrigation ponds to take winter effluent flows
- Capture and recharge of stormwater
 - Addresses salinity intrusion and depleted groundwater in Sonoma Valley
 - o Provides opportunity for recovery and local irrigation
- Groundwater banking of Russian River winter flows into Sonoma Valley to address water supply and salinity intrusion issues

Agricultural User On-site Storage

- NBWRA agencies may have future users that will agree to storage on their property
- Benefits to this approach:
 - Significant construction cost savings to NBWRA
 - Reduces surface water diversions and groundwater pumping for irrigation or frost protection
 - Preserves fish spawning habitat and in-stream flows
 - Expands use of recycled water for regional benefit even if conveyance is not part of NBWRP Phase 2
 - o Increases number of potential users
- Challenges to be addressed:
 - How concept is addressed in environmental documentation
 - Possible regulatory relief through AB 1200 regarding discharges

Sonoma County Subarea Needs: Petaluma

- New large tank to provide diurnal and operational storage
- Expanded storage will be needed in the future:
 - Phased termination of secondary effluent to agriculture for "disposal"
 - Expansion of tertiary effluent service to potable irrigation users
 - Potential new open storage near the Water Recycling Facility
- Groundwater banking of Russian River winter flows into Petaluma Valley to address water supply issues

Marin County Subarea Needs: LGVSD

- Seasonal storage is needed for any expanded services
- ♦ Storage for secondary effluent used as is or further treated to tertiary levels needed to serve customers
- Investigate new 400-AF multi-purpose recycled water storage pond
- Likely located immediately north of the LGVSD WWTP on property owned by LGVSD
 - Undeveloped properties consist of low-lying, reclaimed baylands
 - Perimeter levees for both water storage & protection from rising tidal bay
 - Sites currently used either for animal grazing and/or spray fields

Marin County Subarea Needs: Novato SD

- ◆ Potential 600-acre multi-purpose storage pond to store secondary effluent from Novato SD's WWTP before the water is pumped off-site for use
- ▶ Provides 2,700 AF of wet weather storage for reuse during the summer months, reducing the amount of effluent discharge
- Overflow from the storage pond/wetlands would flow directly into the adjacent new bay wetlands

Marin County Subarea Needs: MMWD

- Potential conversion of existing potable water storage to recycled water for Peacock Gap
- Potential for some operational storage if system expanded to other new project areas

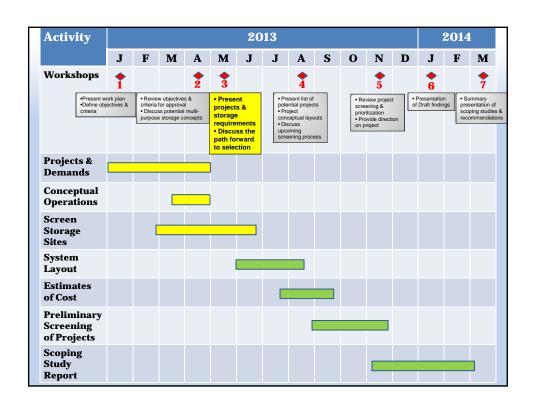

Summary of storage concepts

- Status of effort to date
 - $_{\circ}\,$ At this stage in the study, potential locations are only conceptual
 - $_{\circ}\,$ Significantly more study is required to screen sites
- Identification of sites
 - 。 Conceptual sites have been identified
 - o In some cases, not specifically identified (on-site ag users)
- Volume of storage not determined
 - Requires more definition of the demands
 - Supply data is being refined
- Reservoir siting criteria from previous study will be applied

Stephanie Reynolds, Sonoma County Water Agency prepared eighteen original copies and sent to Drew McIntyre at NMWD to get the process started. The agencies will likely hand-deliver the packet of MOUs to the next agency in line to avoid damage and or loss in the mail.

The Program Manager sent to the Technical Advisory Committee three versions of the MOU: final approved by the NBWRA Board, redline with comments, and redline without comments to assist in preparing your Board/Council reports. A sample staff report was also provided.

AB 803 - As Amended April 9, 2013 - Support

Dear Assemblymember Gomez:

I am writing on behalf of the North Bay Water Reuse Authority (NBWRA) in support of AB 803 (Gomez), the Water Recycling Act of 2013. NBWRA is a coalition of water and wastewater agencies in Napa, Sonoma, and Marin Counties that have pooled resources to maximize the use of recycled water in the North Bay. The agencies have a federally approved program known as the North Bay Water Reuse Program and are currently constructing Phase 1 projects totaling over $100,000,000. NBWRA is currently studying the possibility of adding additional projects through Phase 2, which will equal or exceed the value of Phase 1.

NBWRA strongly supports AB 803 as it will remove barriers to the increased use of recycled water and ensure protection of public health and safety by:

- Putting into statute definitions and procedures that change Title 17 and Title 22 of the Department of Public Health's (DPH) California Code of Regulations regarding recycled water. WateReuse California has worked with DPH and stakeholders for years to get many of these changes adopted by DPH. The departments repeated failure to act on updating regulations has led the author to put the changes into statute until such time DPH acts. Examples of the changes include sensible restrictions on non-potable water hose bibbs in cemeteries and updated definitions of water treatment processes.
- Aligning existing provisions in law to reduce unnecessary paperwork that results from the reporting of incidental run-off from recycled water projects. The Health and Safety Code requires even minor over-spraying or street flow to be reported. However, the Water Code instead sets a reasonable requirement based on the size of the discharge and the level of treatment the water receives. The bill allows the Water Code reporting threshold for unauthorized discharge of recycled water to be used. The Water Code specifies a reporting threshold unauthorized discharge of water treated to less than tertiary standards is 1,000 gallons. The Water Code reporting threshold for unauthorized discharge of higher quality water treated to tertiary or above, is 50,000 gallons.

• Clarifying existing Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWQCB) authority to permit Advanced Treated Purified Water (ATPW) projects at the point where the highly treated water exits the treatment plant and enters a conveyance facility. Since existing law still considers ATPW a waste, SWRCB considers a blend of ATPW with other raw waters in a conveyance facility to be a waste and subject to waste discharge requirements prior to discharge to surface water such as a water supply reservoir. The quality of other raw water may render the blended water incapable of meeting expected discharge requirements, although ATPW alone would be expected to meet requirements. This is a barrier for two proposed large potable reuse projects. The bill will clarify the Regional Board's authority to allow permitting of these drinking water quality recycled water projects at the point of discharge from their treatment plants.

Thank you for your support of water recycling. Please let me know if NBWRA can be of any assistance in helping AB803 pass into law.

Sincerely,

David Rabbitt Chair
